OCTOGENARIAN
CUTS HIS THROAT*Riley Jones, Eighty-Six Years
Old, May Die*Too Weak To Stand, He Leans
Against Fence and Slashes
Neck With Rusty Barlow.*SUFFERS FROM BLOOD LOSS

With his throat cut from ear to ear, Riley Jones, 86 years old, of 180 Woodward avenue, is lying in a precarious condition from loss of blood. He was found in the back yard yesterday morning by his daughter, Mrs. William Knight, with whom he resides. He is partially blind and melancholy.

His little grand-daughter led him out in the yard, when he began slashing at his throat with a barrow knife. The wound is not deep, but it required ten stitches to close it. Several small blood vessels were severed and the aged man bled profusely. The loss of blood has greatly weakened him. Dr. Carl M. Sears attended him.

Members of the family think Mr. Jones is unbalanced. He was so feeble he could not stand alone, and he leaned against a fence, while he sawed at his throat with the rusty knife.

FEAST OF PASSOVER.Will Begin On Friday of This Week
—Lasts Seven Days.

The Feast of the Passover in commemoration of the escape of the Hebrews in Egypt when God smiting the first-born of the Egyptians, "passed over" the houses of Israel which were marked with the blood of the paschal lamb, begins on Friday, which is the 14th day of Abib or Nisan the first month of the sacred year. It will include the seven days following. Unleavened bread only is eaten at this time, hence it is, also, known as the "Feast of the unleavened bread." It is one of the most beautiful and important of the yearly feasts of Israel. At Temple Israel the services in commemoration of the Passover will be held: This week on Friday evening at 7:30 and Saturday at 10 a. m.; next week Thursday night and Friday morning.

SURPRISED HIGHWAYMEN.Meet Three Policemen In Buggy At Night.

Three would-be highwaymen stopped City Physician Harry Williamson Saturday in his buggy at 4:30 o'clock in the morning on South Sixth street near the Franklin school, and found themselves face to face with a whole battery ready for action. Dr. Williamson had been out on Mill street attending a negro cut in a fight and on his way back he met two policemen coming into the city. They climbed into the buggy and when they got to the Franklin school three white men commanded them to stop, and asked for a match. One of the policemen recognized the man and said, "I've heard that match racket before. What are you boys doing out on the street this time of night? Now clear out home." Dr. Williamson knowing what an armament he had in the buggy with him, cheerfully stopped on the command, and the three men departed greatly disconcerted. "Either one of those men would cut your throat for a quarter," said one of the policemen to Dr. Williamson.

NEW UNION SCALEProbably Will Be Resisted By Contractors In This City.

All interest is being centered by union men in the demands for an increase filed by the union carpenters and painters. Each asks for an increase from 35 cents to 40 cents the hour and it is stated that the demand will be opposed by the contractors. Bob Long, who has just organized a new painting firm, has signified his intention of signing up the new scale. His action may be the incentive to others, but in the case of the carpenters, no talk is heard. The carpenters have until April 1, before the new scale goes into effect. The painters have until April 10.

Detroit, Mich., March 25.—A six-year-old boy, whose identity is not established, was brutally murdered last night. His body, with a deep gash across his head, was discovered in a trench behind a place at Leydon Ford, where men have been at work. Had his feet not been left uncovered probably the murder never would have been discovered.

WINT BURNED.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The remains of the late Brigadier General Wint, who died in Philadelphia, were brought here this afternoon and buried with military honors in Arlington cemetery.

ROOSEVELT.

Philadelphia, March 25.—The North American says the preponderance of opinion in letters received by that paper from this section is that President Roosevelt should be re-nominated, despite his repeated declarations that he would not accept. Those who hold this view maintain that only Roosevelt can carry out effectively the policies he has inaugurated.

At 2 o'clock the market was still weak with bear traders intensifying the demoralization by offering stocks continually. No failures marked the drop in prices.

ANOTHER BATTLE WITH SMITHLAND*Dick Fowler Returns With Four Casualties*Hooligans On Boat Started Row and Rocks Began Flying Toward Crowded Steamer.*FOUR PEOPLE SEVERELY HURT*THE INJURED.

William Sherrer, hand bruised.
William Baker, ankle bruised.
W. H. Clements, jaw bruised.
Unknown girl, face bruised and cut.

Four were injured in an attack on the steamer, Dick Fowler, carrying 500 excursionists, by 25 men yesterday afternoon at Smithland. Rocks were hurled promiscuously into the crowd on the boat and the fact that so few were injured is considered wonderful. Because of the crowd it was impossible to get all passengers inside the cabin, and hundreds had to stand on the hurricane deck and on the cabin deck fully exposed to the rocks.

It was 4:45 o'clock when the boat left the Smithland bank. A party of boys stood on the hurricane deck and started the bombardment. Mr. John Holmes and his invalid mother sat just under the headlight on the same deck. Mrs. Holmes is forced to walk on crutches, and when the fusillade began could not in the short time seek shelter. Mr. Holmes, chief engineer of the water company, stood bravely in front of his aged mother and sheltered her. Several large rocks narrowly missed them, and Captain Mark Cole, standing on the headlight bridge was also in danger, and kept dodging to escape the missiles.

"The row was started by a rowdy element on the boat, boys about 16 years old who came upon the boat with rocks," Capt. Mark Cole declared. "The mate made several empty their pockets, suspecting that they would start trouble. Banana peelings were wadded up and thrown ashore first, and later a rock was hurled into the crowd on the bank. This started the fusillade and rocks of every size began coming. It is really wonderful that some were not seriously wounded."

Captain Cole rushed to the side of a young lady who was struck in the face. She was not badly injured and hastened below to dress the wound. Her name was not secured.

W. H. Clement, a former street car conductor, of 1347 South Third street, received a wound on the right cheek.

Detective Will Baker was struck on the ankle.
William Sherrer, a stepson of Grocer J. W. Orr, was struck on the right hand.

The greatest excitement prevailed and it is said some of those guilty are known and will be prosecuted.

"This is the last excursion we will carry to Smithland," a member of the crew declared. "This is the second time trouble has occurred."

NIGHT RIDERS AT WORK IN CALDWELL

Princeton, Ky., March 25.—Night riders are again at work in Caldwell county. Saturday and Sunday nights a band visited leading independent tobacco growers and destroyed their tobacco beds by tearing off the covers and sprinkling clover seed and salt in the mud.

Revival*EXCELLENT RESULTS SO FAR.

Remarkable success continues to attend the Mechanicsburg East Baptist church revival, under the leadership of the Rev. E. H. Cunningham. Ninety additions have been made to the church. A class of 34 were baptized Sunday afternoon in the backwater on Yelder avenue, and there are 15 more to be baptized. At the meeting last night, subscription of $1,240 was raised in a short time among the members, and the hand collection will go toward a new church expected to be built immediately. The revival is growing daily in interest and before it is closed, is expected to establish a new record. Dr. Cunningham is ably assisted by Mrs. Crouse, Mrs. Holcomb, of Mayfield, and Mrs. Covington, of the First Baptist church.

CLOSE CALL.Boy's Foot Caught But Engine Was Stopped.

With his right foot securely held between the drawheads of two freight cars, Headlich Miller, colored, eleven years old, was rescued by N. C. & St. L. railroad switchmen just in time. In another few seconds he would have fallen and probably been ground to death underneath the wheels of the cars Saturday night at 7 o'clock at Caldwell and Norton streets.

The boy was going to his home on Caldwell street near Seventh street. The switch engine was working with a string of cars. The cars were standing across Tenth on Norton street and the boy started to jump through. As he did the engine bumped into the string. His right foot was caught by the drawheads and he began to scream. Switchmen heard him but on account of the darkness could not see. They signaled the engineer and the engine remained immovable. A search revealed the boy. Dr. Frank Boyd was summoned and dressed the injured foot. It is thought the foot will not have to be amputated.

Robert Guthrie Injured.

Robert Guthrie, son of Mr. E. H. Guthrie, is suffering at Danville, Ky., from a broken ankle bone. He is attending college there and injured himself while practicing athletics.

Paducah for Many New Members—Seventeen Committees on Campaign*WILL DOUBLE MEMBERSHIP.

Tomorrow is Greater Paducah Day, and badges pledging the weaver to talk and work for his city will be seen on every street.

The Commercial club has adopted it as Field Day and a special effort will be made to double the membership of the organization. President H. C. Rhodes has appointed seventeen committees, and divided the city into districts, each committee having a district. Over the territory the committees will draw a dragnet. They will visit every man in their district and induce him to become either an active or associate member of the Commercial club.

It is expected that many volunteers will appear at the club rooms tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Immediately after dinner the committees will assemble and start out on their proselyting tour. They will spend about three weeks on the work.

THAW TO SUBMIT TO INQUISITION

New York, March 25.—Harry Thaw, it is said, has changed his mind about appearing before the lunacy commission, in case one is ordered. He first said he would never submit to examination, but now he is confident that any commission will find him sane.

GOLDEN CROSS CONVENESIN THIS CITY ON APRIL 1

R. A. Barnes, grand commander for Kentucky of the United Order of the Golden Cross, is in the city to make arrangements for the encampment, which will be held in Paducah April 11. It is the annual convention of the organization and will be attended by 75 delegates.

Buried in Same Grave.

Benton, Ky., March 25.—Squire S. Cope, aged eighty-seven, and Thomas Pace, aged eighty, brothers-in-law, died yesterday, and were buried today in the same grave yard. A large crowd attended the funeral.

TWO LITTLE BOYS
STRUCK BY AUTO*Arthur Simon, Eight Years
Old, Has Skull Fracture*A. Garner, Chauffeur of Machine, At Liberty Under Bond of $1,000 to Appear.*MAX MARKS INJURED ON HEAD

As the result of a distressing automobile accident at Broadway and Fourth streets yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, Arthur Simon, the eight-year-old son of Moses Simon of 312 Jackson street, is lying at Riverside hospital with a fracture of the skull and a broken leg; and Max Marks, the eleven-year-old son of Moses Marks, of 730 Jefferson street, is lying at his home with his scalp partially torn away.

They were struck and run over by a machine driven by A. Garner, a chauffeur for Foreman Bros. Garner was arrested on the charge of disorderly conduct, and released under a bond of $100. In the automobile with him were Samuel Albritton, of Mayfield; Fred Gillan, Isaac Sullivan and William R. Henneberger, of this city.

The additional charge of assault and battery was entered against Garner this morning and he was released on bond of $1,000 furnished by Foreman Bros.

The auto was running east on the north side of Broadway at the time. A street car had stopped on the west side of Fourth street and the little boys were directly in the way of the automobile beside the rear end of the street car.

There was a considerable crowd at the corner, and as the boys were struck, they screamed in agony and attracted people for two blocks to the scene.

The lads were carried into the office of Dr. J. D. Robertson, where their injuries were dressed, after which they were removed in cabs. Both boys were resting well today and it is believed they will recover.

While carrying the Marks boy down the steps of Dr. Robertson's office, to the ambulance, Sam Simon, who witnessed the accident, was overcome with nervousness and was prevented from falling headlong down the steps by Patrolman Life Cross, who took the child to the ambulance.

FAST HORSES SHIPPED TO CHURCHILL DOWNS.

Two extra baggage cars were on the 11:20 o'clock passenger train this morning over the Illinois Central, containing 21 thoroughbred race horses going to the spring racing season at Louisville. One car with eleven horses is owned by J. W. Hall, and the other with ten horses is owned by J. H. Baker, both of Memphis. The horses were shipped by the passenger train to insure greater safety and a less wearing trip.

TERM IN COUNTY JAIL, THEN FEDERAL COURT.

Marshal Charles McNutt, and Policeman Zack Albritton, of Mayfield, are in the city to take back Arthur Cox, bootlegger, who has a term of confinement in the Graves county jail awaiting him. He is from Fairview, Marshall county, but sold liquor in Mayfield, and has one fine of $100 and another of $50 standing against him. He will be presented after his Graves county sentence has been served before United States Commissioner W. A. Gardner.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL AT LITTLE CHAPEL.

The Rev. J. W. Naylor, of the Paducah Methodist missions, is conducting a revival at Little's chapel in Little's addition. He preached yesterday to a large congregation. His sermons were forcible and evangelistic, and made a deep impression on his hearers. There is much interest being evidenced in these services.

Window Broken.

An arch-shaped transom was blown out on the Broadway side of the down town Illinois Central ticket office Saturday evening and struck the plate glass window below, shattering it to small bits.

This stove is beautifully ornamented with non-tarnishable nickel.

"Pretty is as pretty does"—with a stove as well as with the "sweet young thing." A stove, of course, should be measured—first, by its performance—second, by its appearance.

Buck's stoves and ranges have all the advantages and conveniences of the ordinary kind—with more added—and they are as beautiful as it is possible to make them.

While it is the "insides" of the stove that really count—we would call your attention to the generous ornamentation of silvery nickel—of extra heavy deposit—placed away from the heat so as to be practically non-tarnishable—found on all Buck's stoves and ranges.

Another reason why you should own a Buck's. See them—and learn of our terms and prices—at our store—today.

A dollar down and a dollar a week will buy one of these splendid stoves. You surely can't afford to miss this chance. Take advantage of it today.

PRESIDENT BONILLA FLEES HONDURAS

Director General Says the War is Ended.

Nicaraguan Minister at Washington
Makes Official Announcement of Fact.

ENFORCEMENT OF NEUTRALITY.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 25.—Santos Ramirez, director general of telegraphs and telephones today made the following statement:

"The Nicaraguan forces have captured Choluteca, Honduras, which was held by the Honduran and Salvadoran troops, and President Bonilla has fled by boat. Steamers will pursue the fugitive president.

"I believe the war is ended."

The government is without further advice concerning the capture of the city but details are expected shortly. Choluteca is the most strongly fortified town of Honduras. It is on the Choluteca river, about three miles from the Gulf of Fonseca. It was here, some years ago, that ex-President Vasquez was defeated by the allied revolutionists and the Nicaraguans.

Intervention Needed.

Washington, March 25.—President Bonilla has fled from the battlefield and the Central American war has practically ended, according to cable dispatches received in Washington today by the Nicaraguan Minister Correa and the fall of the Honduran capital, Tegucigalpa, tomorrow is predicted by the Nicaraguan Secretary of Foreign Affairs Gomez.

Minister Correa expressed the opinion that the fugitive president would go to Salvador and again recruit his army for a second attack on Nicaragua unless the United States and Mexico exercised their good offices to the extent of insisting that Salvador and Guatemala maintain neutrality. If this is done, Mr. Correa says the war is ended; otherwise he is firmly convinced that it will only be a question of a short time until hostilities are again resumed.

The Nicaraguan minister tomorrow will ask Secretary Root and Mexican Ambassador Cretel to take some steps to force Salvador and Guatemala to keep their neutrality pledge.

CENTRALS WIN

DEFEAT CULLEY'S AT WALLACE
PARK 4 TO 3.

First Game of Season Brings Out
Two Hundred Fans—Evenly Matched Teams.

The first baseball game of the season resulted yesterday afternoon at Wallace park in a victory for the Centrals over the Culley's by a score of 4 to 3. The game was well played, considering the fact that the players were not fully limbered up, and fully 200 people were out to see it. The close score shows that the teams were well matched, Gus Brahe was umpire. The batteries for the Centrals were Hart and Brahe, for the Culley's, Arnold, Will Block and George Block. Arnold pitched four innings of the nine.

Odd Fellows' Home.

Thursday night a special meeting of the combined lodges of Odd Fellows will be held to decide which of the 12 sites under consideration shall be bought. The Odd Fellows will build a home.

THEATRICAL NOTES

The "Green Eyed Monster" Tonight. Tonight's offering of the Mack-Leone company is a comedy new to local play-goers, although it has achieved an enviable reputation in a great many of the large cities. The "Green Eyed Monster," as its title indicates, is based on one of the frequent themes of the drama, jealousy, but the treatment, in this case, is unique in its originality and interest. The plot is said to be a logical one, developed by truthfully-drawn characters moving through humorous, but reasonable situations. Willard Mack and Maude Leone, as the young couple, who are almost parted by the doings of the "monster," have two of their most popular roles and the supporting company is cast to unusual advantage.

NEW YORK LETTER.

New York, March 25.—Empire Theater—Ethel Barrymore in "The Silver Box," a solid hit.

Garrick—William, formerly Willie, Collier, passes his one hundredth performance of "Caught in the Rain." A stayer.

Wallack's—Sam Bernard enters the last week of his all-season engagement in the supremely droll "Rich Mr. Hoggensheimer."

Belasco—"The Rose of the Rancho" to increasing crowds of beautifully clad women and men in evening dress—the fashionable throng.

Hudson—Frederic Thompson's superb production of "Brewster's Millions," a strong and sustained success.

Lyceum—Last fortnight of "Two Lions and the Mouse." Has passed its six hundredth repetition. Strong play, but here a mollycoddle.

Knickerbocker—Montgomery and Stone, permanent tenants, in "The Red Mill" regarded at first as a joint, but proving finally a bonanza.

Savoy—Bill Brady and Joe Glimmer's "The Man of the Hour," seats selling three months ahead. That tells the story.

Lyric—Ermete Novelli, Italian tragedian in repertoire. Vivid actor from Guinea point of view. His make-up suggests spaghetti table d'hotel nightgowns. Shylock looks like a fox, old woman disguised in home-made white whiskers.

Princess—Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin in "The Great Divide," and there's a whole lot for division. One of the season's really great hits.

Hippodrome—Something of a shrinkage of receipts for "Neptune's

Bijou—Mme. Nazimova, the cavir actress, who is a find, but will never be a habit. Tricks, not art.

Herold Square—"The Road to Yesterday," a cheap imitation of "Peter Pan." Forced run.

Majestic—Military play, "On Parade." Exceedingly good.

Lincoln Square—"The Holy City" religious drama. Preachy and long-winded. Not a laugh in it, says a funny man.

New Amsterdam—Richard Mansfield to stupendous houses.

Brondway—Anna Held, Enormous hit in "A Parisian Model." Chief feature an excessively vulgar and licentious dance.

Liberty—Eleanor Robson in "Salomy Jane," by Paul Armstrong. Fine play with a heroine who wants a man to do something, and a man who does it. It's murder, but it is human.

Madison Square Garden—Barnum and Bailey. Same show. So big you can't see it all at once, but you've got to try, for it is a regular yearly function.

Metropolitan Opera House—Season closing this week. Oscar Hammerstein's opposition has been costly to Conried. Osen's opera best.

Casino—Louis Mann in "The White Hen." Quite amusing.

Academy of Music—"Ben Hur" on large scale. Big crowds. By the bye, Warfield played to nearly $99,000 in four weeks here.

Daly's—"The Belle of Mayfair." Doing well. Neat, clean musical comedy.

New York—"The Spoilers." Pure melodrama. Thrilling at times.

Hackett—Rose Stahl, an all-winner success in "The Chorus Lady." "Sissy," crisp, laugh-making.

Berkeley Lyceum—"The Reckoning." Faddish.

Manhattan—"Mrs. Warren's Profession." Common British dirt.

Circle—"Wine, Woman and Song," a burlesque show made vastly popular by a new comedian named Alexander Carr. He has been grabbed for next year by another management.

Weber's—A double bill denounced by the first nighters, but a fine hit with general public. Just closing New York season.

Grand Opera House—George M. Cohan, who seems to be "the candy kid" with this community.

Astor—Broadway's "The Mills of the Gods." They ground slowly at first but are doing better and better.

Madison Square—"The Three of Us"—that is, two downstairs and one in the gallery.

Garden—The Ben Greet company in Shakespeare plays. Ben Greet's every night, and so do some others, but not many.

Everywhere else, vaudeville, vudeville, VAUDEVILLE. It's the real thing nowadays.

Our fellow citizeness Blanche Bates, who in vacation time is granger on a fine ranch up the Hudson, is putting a part of her season's profits into a new wing upon her mansion. CITIES ABANDON M. O. PROJECTS

Hamilton, Ohio, Has Sad Experience With Plants

Two Cities in Iowa Give Blow to the Theories of Fuddists in Result of Experience.

OMAHA DEMOCRATS CHANGE.

Hamilton, O., March 25.—The city of Hamilton is just recovering from one of the most prolonged terms of municipal mismanagement ever experienced by an American town, and there is every reason to hope that it will now steadily reduce the debt of $1,266,583, which is largely on account of its municipal plants. This city was the first in America to build and conduct all its public utilities and the result brought about by gross mismanagement have done incalculable harm.

Hamilton has been written up in the newspapers and magazines as the most extravagant and worst governed city in the United States. At one time this could be said with some degree of truth, but not so now. Business methods and business men predominate at present.

All Utilities Unprofitable.
The city electric lighting plant has never paid the interest on the bonds which created it, the water works plant has been badly managed and the gas plant up to May 17, 1906, lost money each day.

The present officials have made radical changes. The city has ceased to operate the gas plant entirely and on May 17, 1906, began to purchase gas in the holder from the Hamilton Gas and Electric company, which is affiliated with and is a part of the Hamilton-Otto Coke company. The price paid for the gas by the Hamilton officials is 35 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The gas is sold to the public at the former rate of 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

From May 17, 1906, to Jan. 1, 1907, the city gas department showed a profit of $15,000, which will mean about $20,000 for the year. During the few months previous to making this arrangement with the private corporation the Hamilton gas plant, which was in a state of extreme disrepair, showed, according to the report of an expert, an average net loss to the city of $65 per day.

Against Ownership.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 25.—Municipal ownership of public utilities has received two severe blows in Iowa during the last week. Citizens of Pella at a popular election voted down a proposition to issue bonds for $70,000 to establish a municipal light plant and to extend the water works system.

The city council of Council Bluffs, because of the demand of hundreds of taxpayers and prominent business men, decided not to submit the question of purchasing the water works there to the people. In both places the result is the climax of a campaign of education and a period of careful consideration of the project.

In Pella for several months the papers have thrown open their columns to the discussion of the project and the ownership problem has been liberally discussed pro and con. Interest became so intense that a number of women entered into the debate and availed themselves of the privilege of voting on the proposed bond issue. The fact that the present system of lights is extremely poor and the water not of the best quality naturally worked in favor of the municipal ownership proposition.

According to the report of George Pennell, state inspector of municipal affairs just filed with the auditor of state, the municipal ownership of the water works and electric light plant at Pella has been a failure.

The period inspected by Mr. Pennell is from April 1, 1903, to Dec. 31, 1906. On the first date there was on hand in the water fund $1,958. At the end of the three and one-half years of municipal ownership he finds the treasury is overdrawn $2,355 for this fund, thus showing a loss of $4,313, not taking into account that the city is still paying interest on $18,000 outstanding refund water bonds which must themselves be paid.

Democrats Give Up Theory.
Omaha, Neb., March 25.—The two experiments in municipal ownership that have been made in Omaha have proved such signal failures that Democratic councilmen elected to office last fall on an ownership platform and the Democratic daily newspaper that compelled the Democrats to commit themselves to the ownership had in the last municipal campaign are now openly condemning those experiments.

As indicated Saturday, the river practically has reached a stand here, today. The whole rise in the last 48 hours, was .4, the rise from Saturday to Sunday being .3, and from Sunday to Monday, .1. Tomorrow morning probably will see a slight fall. It is time the river was reaching a stand, as the present stage of 42.3 is inconveniently high. The stage March 25 last year was 28 feet. Business at the river is fair.

Captain Joe B. Flasch has returned from New Orleans, where he was sick, and is able to be out today. He was sick from an acute attack of indigestion. After recuperating for a few days he will resume his duties as business manager of the Marine Engineers' association.

Owing to the stage of construction now reached on Captain F. Gent's showboat at the dry docks, the high wind Saturday afternoon carried it clear over to the Illinois shore. One side of the boat has been built up 20 feet and the wind used this like a sail. Captain Gent and some carpenters made the trip across, to their amazement, and the Fannie Wallace brought the barge back.

Frank Molinski, second clerk on the Dick Fowler, will go in the same position on the Spread Eagle in the St. Louis, when that packet leaves winter quarters. The Spread Eagle is not expected to leave before April 20.

The Margaret arrived from the Tennessee river at 7 o'clock this morning with a big trip of ties.

Boat St. Louis-Tennessee river packets arrived this morning. The Savannah arrived early from the Tennessee river and went on to St. Louis; the Saltville arrived later this morning from St. Louis and went up the Tennessee river.

The Dick Fowler carried all the excursionists the law would allow on the excursion to Smithland yesterday. A hundred or more were refused. Business was fair for the Dick Fowler in the Calto trade this morning.

The Joe Wheeler arrived last night from Chattanooga with a good trip and went down to Joppla to unload some ties. The Wheeler will leave Tuesday afternoon for Chattanooga.

Captain Phillips, agent of the Lee line has no information to the contrary that the Georgia Lee and Peters Lee will leave on time this week. The Georgia Lee is at Memphis and the Peters Lee is at Cincinnati. The reason given for not making the trip last week was high water.

The Butterff will arrive tonight or in the morning from Nashville and leave Tuesday at noon for Clarksville. The Butterff is 24 hours off schedule time.

The John Hopkins arrived Sunday from Evansville and left at 11 o'clock this morning for the same point.

The Lyda did not get away until Sunday for the Tennessee river after ties.

Beginning this morning, the wharf boat will receive freight one hour longer in the afternoon. The hours heretofore have been from 7 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Freight will be received until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Frank Gill, steward on the Shiloh, in the Tennessee river trade, passed through on the Savannah this morning on his way to St. Louis.

A repaired and caulked barge was put into the river off the dry docks this morning.

Cincinnati Denies to Be Prosecuted Under Anti-Trust Law.

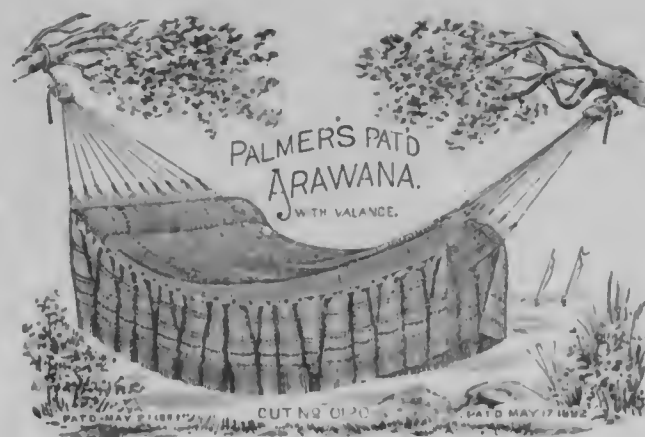

Cincinnati, March 25.—Judge Bromwell of the superior court today overruled the demurrers of the Cincinnati Ice men indicted last summer on a charge of maintaining a conspiracy in restraint of trade, and those indicted will be compelled to stand trial under the provisions of the Valentine anti-trust law. Five companies and eleven individuals were named in the indictments.

PUT ME IN JAIL, SAYS HARRIMAN

Prefers It to Poorhouse, if It's Reward for Building Up Roads.

New York, March 25.—E. H. Harriman was asked what he thought of Senator Cullom's remarks concerning him. Mr. Harriman said:

"Senator Cullom, I am sure, does not really wish to put me in the penitentiary. He simply regrets that I am not in the poorhouse."

"Now, I prefer the penitentiary, if that is the reward for the upbuilding of the railroad properties of this country, rather than the poorhouse, which is the reward of unprogressive railway management."

Daily Thought.

"The voice is the sounding board of the soul."

WARNING—DANGER.

Without in any way suggesting that the driver of the automobile, which struck the little boys on Broadway yesterday, was to blame, we feel that this is the time to call attention to recent, flagrant violations of speed ordinances by automobilists. A man, who will race a horse or automobile on a public street, exhibits as much regard for the lives of other people as he would by firing a shotgun down the street, on the chance, that, taking no aim, he might shoot no one.

Automobilists have their fate in their own hands. If a few temperate zealots will disregard the rights of other people, then everybody who owns an automobile, will be made to suffer. A man has a right to own a machine, just as much right as a man has to own a horse, and the automobile owner has as much right to the use of the public highways—and no more. Automobilists should exercise extreme caution in the use of their machines, especially in the crowded streets, avoiding of this warning will mean drastic regulations and actual persecution of people who use their machines properly.

NOT A STEAL—ROBBERY.

The Washington Post, one of the country's leading newspapers, says editorially, concerning the Kentucky legislative gerrymander, which the appellate court knocked out:

"The apportionment was not a steal, but a robbery. There was no hypocrisy about it. All was open and above board. One little old county with a population of less than 8,000 and a reliable Democratic majority was allowed a representative in the legislature. Less than 100 miles distant from that county three other counties, with an aggregate population of 54,000, casting an overwhelming Republican majority, were combined in a district with a single representative in the legislature. Of course nobody with any political, moral or intellectual honesty could defend such barefaced rascality as that, nor did anybody pretend to defend it, not even the men who perpetrated it, nor the men whom it was designed to advantage."

The Post thinks the decision may rebound to the good of Kentucky Republicans, and adds: "If the Kentucky Republicans were a happy family it would all be over but the shouting."

How many patrons are sufficiently interested in the schools to make friends with the superintendent, principal and teacher, to talk over with them the work of the children and ascertain at first hand what progress their children are making, and the conditions under which their minds are being trained? Not many, we fear. Those who are interested in the school question and actively in the school board election, are interested because the position of some friend is at stake. So long as people are willing to make compromises inimical to the interests of the schools to benefit somebody who has an axe to grind, just so long will chaos reign, where all should be discipline and order and harmony. The principle of graft has gotten into our political system to such an extent that we are all poisoned by it. While we decry the politician's methods and objects, we have come to look on all public offices as plums for our friends, rather than public trusts. That is what is wrong with our schools.

Tomorrow is the Commercial club Field Day, and it will be the fault of the members of that organization if the membership is not doubled, at least. It can not possibly be the fault of the promoters of the Field Day, for they have striven mightily in its behalf and they will bring in their quota of new names. This, however, is suggesting a condition of apathy that does not exist. The fact is, the interest in the Field Day is intense and the members of the committee, who are to dragnet Paducah for the club membership are showing their enthusiasm in every way. A big increase in the membership of the organization will mean a great deal for Paducah. It will multiply the power and influence of the club and make it even more truly representative of Paducah than it is.

Louisville citizens, who have been assaulted by the thieves and thugs and policemen that had first put down by violence opposition to the Democratic ring at the primary, and afterwards prevented voters from exercising the right of suffrage, will feel that at least they have proved to the satisfaction of the court that the municipal election was unfair and that Mayor Barth and the administration hold their seats, not as honorable elevation by their fellow citizens, but by the connivance of the habits of the red light district. Thirteen voting precincts were thrown out, but the court held that the Democratic candidates themselves were not responsible for the rioting and disorder that prevailed. Technically this may be so, but it is a disgrace for a man to hold office after such a showing has been made.

Our esteemed friend and well-wisher, the Mayfield Messenger, submits this suggestion:

"Paducah is to have a new county jail. It certainly needs one with plenty of rooms." Since the jail is to be built principally to accommodate Graves county citizens, their taste should be consulted.

We do not wish to appear egotistical, but THE SUN continues to furnish the best daily news service in Paducah, locally and telegraph, presenting it in the most concise form, and scoring hits in foreign news every 24 hours, except on the Sabbath day.

Hindman people were entertained last week with the first dramatic production ever witnessed in the county, and the proceeds went toward purchasing a town clock. May we assume that it will be the first clock ever seen in Hindman?

Loyalty of citizens to their city will be put to the test tomorrow. All those who wear the "Greater Paducah" badge are for the city. The others, possibly will go along, but they will be a part of the load.

The Woman's club is doing a great work and it will not be long before the effect of its efforts on the community will be apparent to everybody.

When the High School Alumni association plants the cherry tree in the Washington school yard, the speakers had better eschew all reference to the episode of the hatchet.

The road to hell is paved with good intentions. And the pavement is now thin by the feet of charitable people.

SERVICE IS FINE ON PALM SUNDAY

St. Francis de Sales and Grace Episcopal Churches Both Have Special Musical Programs on Occasion

BEAUTIFUL AND IMPRESSIVE.

Palm Sunday was observed yesterday by special music in many of the churches arranged in commemoration of the day.

At the St. Francis de Sales Catholic church the usual beautiful custom of distributing branches of palms among the congregation was followed. These palms are blessed and given out during the high mass service. Mr. Robert D. MacMillen sang "The Palms" during the ceremony, most impressively. Miss Anna Hill sang "The Holy City" very sweetly at the morning hour, also.

The musical program at Grace Episcopal church was a very beautiful and elaborate one, and emphasized the triumph and praise of Palm Sunday in the professional, recessional, hymns and offertory of the morning service. At the afternoon hour Miss Ethel Callan sang "The Palms" with sympathetic power.

At the Broadway Methodist church a choir composed of Mrs. Samuel T. Hubbard, Mrs. Edward Rawls, Miss Julia Scott, Miss Caroline Ham, Messrs. John D. Robinson, Robert and Edward Scott, Will Clark, rendered some beautiful anthems. The soloist at the evening service was Mr. Ray Clark, of Paris, Ky., who sang "The Plains of Peace" very impressively.

TRAIN WRECKED BY ROBBERS.

Caught Trying to Enter Sleeper on Chicago Limited.

Pittsburg, March 25.—The officials of the Pennsylvania railroad are satisfied that robbery was the motive for wrecking the Chicago limited yesterday morning near Stewart, Pa. When the train came to a standstill the porter found two men trying to get into the rear sleeper, but the door was locked. Between Stewart and Pitsburgh the railroad officials say there is rather a rough gang, many of them ex-railroaders, and to two of these the crime is attributed.

STARTS FOR TRIP TO THE POLE

Major Hersey Leaves for Paris to John Walter Wellman.

Milwaukee, March 25.—Major H. B. Hersey, who will accompany Walter Wellman to the north pole in the Wellman-Record-Herald air ship, will leave Milwaukee April 1 for New York, from which port he will sail April 4 for France. He will meet Mr. Wellman in Paris. Major Hersey will be accompanied by Dr. W. N. Fowler, the physician and commissary of the expedition.

On Major Hersey's arrival at Paris it is understood Mr. Wellman will have everything in readiness to leave for Tromsø. From that port the expedition will sail for Dane's Island as early as possible. Much will depend on the condition of the ice blocking the entrance to the headquarters bay.

Major Hersey believes the expedition will be successful in reaching the pole. "Everything that human ingenuity can suggest has been done," he said today, "to make the expedition a success and nothing but unforeseen conditions can prevent it. Of course there are chances, but these have to be taken in any enterprise."

WOMAN ON WAR SHIP AS JACKIE

Sailor Girl Keeps Sex Secret Until She Takes Bath After Taps.

Boston, March 25.—There was consternation among the officers of the battleship Vermont last night when it was discovered that one of the sailors was a woman. According to the story told by marines at the Charleston navy yard, where the Vermont is now being fitted for sea duty, the woman sailor had been aboard the battleship, engaging in routine duties, for four days. She is now said to be discharged. Who she is remains a mystery.

It is said that she gained access to the ship by masquerading under the name of John Wilkinson, a sailor on shore leave. She wore his uniform and her hair was clipped short. She attended mess and slept in a hammock near members of the crew.

All went well with the masquerade until she overlooked one of the ship's rifles and took a bath after taps. Noise in the bath room attracted the attention of the master of arms, who made an investigation, and the disclosure followed.

Wage Increase Or Strike.

Chicago, Ill., March 25.—Arbitration of the differences between the railroads and conductors on the western roads will not be accepted by the men. Strengthened in their position by the almost unanimous vote of the rank and file of their organizations, the labor leaders will put the question squarely to the railroad managers at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. A further increase in wages must be granted or there will be a strike.

Loan Company Man Sentenced.

Toronto, Ont., March 25.—Joseph Phillips, former manager of the Juncot York County Loan and Savings company, pleaded guilty today to a charge of making a false return to the government. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

March Is a Trying Month.

"Nor love, nor honor, wealth nor power,
 Can give the heart a cheerful hour,
 When health is lost. Be timely wise,
 With health all taste of pleasure flies."

March is conceded by local physicians to be the worst month in the year in Paducah, in the point of the extent of sickness. The quick changes in the temperature, warm one day, chilly, with penetrating winds the next affect the physical condition probably more than any season of the year.

The only safeguard therefore is to get yourself in good condition. The liver, the blood, the kidneys, the skin should be in first class order or you can not stand the trying month. Osteopathy, quickly naturally restore any disarrangement to any of these essentials of good health. The torpid liver, the disordered kidneys, the poor blood supply or circulation readily yield to its health giving methods.

The treatment is simplicity itself, sane, rational, without the use of harmful drugs. It cures by scientific manipulation to restore the normal functions to each organ. It recognizes, appreciates and uses proper diet, air, water, exercise and other natural hygienic measures, too.

A trite saying is "Seeing is believing," so I shall be pleased to refer you, if you are interested, to any number of people you know, well who can attest to the virtues of the treatment in liver, stomach, bowels, rheumatism, asthma, malaria, neuralgia and nervous condition.

Call me at 1107 or call at my office, 516 Broadway, at any time between 9 and 12 a. m. or 2 and 5 p. m. Dr. G. B. Froese.

FRISCO GRAFT

Promises To Furnish Plenty of Sentences This Week.

San Francisco Cal., March 25.—The coming week promises to be as productive as the past one in sentences relative to the investigation of municipal corruption that is being prosecuted by the grand jury. It is expected that a decision will be rendered tomorrow by the supreme court of the United States on the petition of Abraham Ruef on a writ of error. If Ruef's petition is refused, the prosecution will proceed in Superior Judge Duncanson's court with the impeachment of a jury to try Ruef on the charge of extortion in what is known as the French restaurant cases. If it is granted the trial of Ruef will be postponed a while.

The grand jury will resume its probing into the alleged bribery of the board of supervisors by the telephone and other public service corporations. It is announced that the prosecution has retained an attorney to proceed to Honolulu and intercept T. V. Halsey, who has been indicted on eleven counts on the charge of bribery, for the purpose of endeavoring to persuade Halsey to appear before the grand jury on his arrival here. Halsey is now en route from Manila in charge of a detective.

The prosecution is momentarily expecting to hear of the arrest of Louis Glass, former manager of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, and A. K. Detweiler, of Toledo, O., against whom indictments for bribery were returned. In addition to the revelations coming from the grand jury room, public interest is directed against the regeneration of the city in view of the alleged confessions of corruption by members of the board of supervisors. One story is to the effect that the supervisors, before appearing before the grand jury, secured pledges from the prosecuting officials that they would neither be prosecuted nor removed from office in return for their evidence.

Reactionary Leader Dead.

St. Petersburg, March 25.—M. Pobledonosteff, former procurator general of the holy synod and for 23 years looked on by many as the evil genius of Russian politics, died at 7 o'clock this evening aged 80 years. M. Pobledonosteff had been virtually in retirement for two years when he lost his influence over the czar. Twenty-five years ago he induced Emperor Alexander II. to overthrow Loris-Melikoff and abandon his whole reform policy. For two decades he remained the greatest reactionary influence in the Russian government.

Sunday Tragedy at Memphis.

Memphis, March 25.—Charles W. Wallace, for years a prominent saloonist of Memphis, has died at his home, 908 Poplar avenue, with a bullet wound through his heart, while his brother-in-law, J. E. That Rush was wounded by Wallace, while the latter was in a state of mental aberration, is unquestioned, and the officers who made the investigation are of the opinion he then succumbed.

BRYAN ADVISES.

Chicago, March 25.—William Jennings Bryan in an interview with your correspondent today, said: "The only political lesson on the present railroad agitation towards federal regulation is that the public ought not to give up their local authority over railroads at the request of managers who do not want to be regulated at all." Urban Problem Theme Of Sermon at Methodist Church

"If I were to found a modern church, I would build the edifice large enough to house a kitchen where women could cook, a reading room, parlors, a gymnasium, and everything that could appeal to the worthy desires of the masses of the people and make the church the center of social and civic life. The church must become more institutional, I am part of the church and I love the church, but it is not doing much there is to do. Its influence is not sufficiently felt and it has become so adapted to the world, that one sometimes can scarcely tell where the church ends and the world begins."

In these words the Rev. W. T. Bolling, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, summed up the impotence of the good people in their struggle against the powers of evil in municipal life, during the course of his sermon last night.

His sermon was the second of a series on "Civic Evils", and next Sunday night he will speak about the remedy. His address last night had to do with the "urban problem", and he minced no words in disclosing conditions as they exist in most of the cities of this country.

To three things Dr. Bolling laid the system of graft which permeates most municipal governments: the solidarity of crime, the activity of great interests seeking special privileges, and the unfaithfulness of public officials.

"Petty larceny is the least of our dangers", he said. "The poor man, who in want, steals a side of bacon, will be caught and punished, while the great rascal, who bribes legislators and executive officers goes unpunished. It is corruption and crime in the upper crust of politics that gives us concern."

In the solidarity of crime Dr. Bolling showed how the criminal element with the dives as congregating places plan their depredations and in turn are found and used for political purposes by that lower element, which always acts in concert at election time.

As the complement of this solidarity Dr. Bolling showed how church people, having listened to a sermon Sunday, turn their attention to their business for six days, giving no heed to the demands of patriotism, and when election time comes, vote with their respective parties, thus dividing their strength, while the under world is voting as a unit and acting as the balance of power.

Fewer laws and better enforcement, were advocated by Dr. Bolling. He commented on the fact that when a condition becomes serious, the good people arise in their might and demand that some drastic legislation be enacted. Then they rest satisfied, while the laws go unexecuted.

The corruption of legislators and officials by special interests and the infidelity of public officials were classed together by Dr. Bolling, and he added that much of the corruption would be obviated, if the people paid their under officials living wages. He mentioned the policeman in Memphis, who receives $65 a month, and pays $20 a month for house rent, leaving $45 for him to support a family of, perhaps, four children.

"He can't do it," said Dr. Bolling. "What is the result? The wife or children suggest that this or that would be nice to have. He is ashamed to admit before his family that he is not able to provide for them. So he goes to Jones, who conducts a saloon, and Jones gives him $5 for the grocery bill. Another stands for his meat bill. After that he can not see any wrong that these men do."

"The whole world is actuated by this same spirit", continued Dr. Bolling. "The man on a salary is the worst off of anybody. The laboring men have had their wages increased, but who has heard of the salaried man getting an increase. It is in the church. We see how cheap we can get our minister. We beat down our clerks, and bookkeepers, and editors and tellers. Sometimes in this way we tempt them to do wrong and make of them bad citizens."

"Let us awaken to the true conditions in our cities," he said. "Country life and country politics does not tend so much to corruption, and once when this was a rural nation we were not confronted with the dangers, which now beset us. But our urban population is becoming calloused to these conditions that are gradually affecting the whole nation. Let us return to the old path of honesty and truth."

DIES AT BEHEST OF BABY GHOST

Ohio Woman Expires After Supposed Call From Spiritual World.

Springfield, O., March 25.—Repeated visitations from the ghost of her baby niece, Alice, who died last fall, are believed to have been the cause of the death of Mrs. Daniel Clauer, who was found expiring in her bed this morning.

Mrs. Clauer's family had been invaded by death no less than seven times in the last two years. She was in feeble health herself and the death of her brothers and sisters weighed upon her mind. She bore up calmly, however, until last fall, when death took her niece, to whom she was greatly attached.

Five weeks ago her husband, who was night engineer at the Ohio Old Fellows' Home in this city, was found dead, his body lying between the boilers in the engine room. It was soon after this that she told her daughter, Mrs. Yost, that she had seen a vision of her niece, surrounded by angels, and the baby hand beckoned to her. These visions continued by night and day.

"Alice has been calling and beckoning to me for a month," she said to her daughter, "and now that Daniel is gone there is no reason why I should not go to be with them."

SPRING THOUGHTS.

When I view the unclothed forests In the early spring time it calls to my mind the time When God first clothed the earth with green and sprinkled it with flowers.

When there was no living creature seen within its pleasant bowers. Then by His word God filled the earth And waters underneath With things above the plants in worth That feel and move and breathe. The fishes covered are with scales, See how they swiftly glide. With his vast tail The wondrous whale Scatters the waters wide. Insects with humming fill the air And sparkle in the sun. The butterfly by colors fair pleases everyone. The birds among the branches sing And chirps the nightingale. Redbreast shines with painted wing. The dove does softly wall.

THE BATTLE OF PADUCAH—ANNIVERSARY IS TODAY

Today is the forty-fourth anniversary of the Battle of Paducah. The battle was fought on Good Friday, March 25, 1863, and is remembered vividly by many of the older residents of Paducah. It rained all that day and the fight was hot while it lasted. Forrest and Buford were the opposing commanders.

Wisdom is the fruit of experience.

SPRING OPENING

THERE IS AN IMPRESS OF REFINEMENT

About the New Store's Spring Suits, and Exclusiveness is Assured in Its Offerings

THE impress of distinctive refinement about everything from our store was never better exemplified than in our Spring Suit Offerings. It but reveals the success of our well directed efforts and attests our keen judgment in knowing what will meet the requirements of you exacting Paducah men. Our range of styles and fabrics are very broad—you will find every style and pattern here that should be and none that should not. The three button coat, with the slight tracing cut will again be very popular, and the two button coats will find great favor, too, with Paducah dressers. Of course these styles find great prominence here, but the most attractive feature of this store is its prices, the first consideration you give anything. The range on suits, for instance, is from $10.00 to $40.00, and at each and every price you will get all the value it is possible for the amount to purchase anywhere in season. Our windows are a reflection of our store. Note them in passing every day you will see something of great interest.

MOLDAVIA REVOLT NEARLY CIVIL WAR

Sword and Torch in Northern Roumania.

Peasants Fight Troops Who Try to Check Looting and Burn- ing of Towns.

10,000 JEWS ARE 'HOMELESS'

Vienna, March 25.—From the estimates of the damages made tonight it appears that 400 farms in Moldavia have been devastated, 8,000 fugitives have fled over the Roumanian frontier into Austria, and a total of 10,000 Jews are homeless.

The number of dead and wounded cannot be given accurately, but the reports of today give a total of 85 men killed and 150 wounded.

The outbreak seems to have been particularly suppressed. The Roumanian government is still sending troops into the afflicted district. Practically the entire province of Moldavia has been involved.

Agrarian, Not Anti-Jewish.

The movement is really more agrarian than anti-semitic. The peasants are in revolt against the great farming trust, which has leased half the cultivatable lands in Moldavia. The absent landlords who control the trust happen to be Jews, and this fact brings the ire of the peasants down upon any and all Jews that they meet, and to this antipathy is added strong racial feeling arising from other causes.

On Thursday 500 peasants tried to invade Michaeleni. In spite of the fact that there was a sufficient number of Roumanian troops in this town to stop the rioters, the peasants at first got the upper hand because the soldiers, acting upon the orders of the prefect of the town, were not permitted by their officers to open fire. In the face of the menace of the furious peasants, however, some of the soldiers did fire against orders. This volley killed fifteen of the rioters and wounded fifty-five, whereupon the peasants withdrew.

Battle at Vaslui.

A more successful attack was made at Vaslui, to the south of Jassy. Here a body of 2,000 peasants forced their way into the town. The prefect of Vaslui did not have sufficient troops at his command to stop the onward march of the infuriated countrymen. He stood by a helpless witness while the rioters, in an incredible short space of time, plundered practically all the buildings on the three principal streets of Vaslui, then set them on fire. The peasants had looted freely and the fire completed the work of destruction.

The prefect sent in a hurried appeal

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Paducah readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

W. H. Smith, of 1012 South Fourth street, Paducah, Ky., says: "My back has troubled me for some years past and it would ache so just at the hips that I would have to go and lie down and then I could not get up without help. I tried plasters and everything that would come to my notice that I thought would help me. I did receive some benefit but the trouble would return again in a short time as severe as ever. One day we noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised so I sent to Durbols & Co.'s drug store for a box. I took them as directed and in about one week I was able to go about my work as usual. The lameness in my back and shoulders disappeared and my kidneys began to perform their work in the natural way. I found that it was kidney trouble that caused me to ache so much, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of all the trouble and I can cheerfully endorse them." (From a statement given in 1909.)

Cured to Stay Cured.

On Feb. 18, 1907, Mr. Smith said: "Seven years ago Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a severe attack of lame back and kidney trouble. I gave a statement at that time telling of the cure they had effected, and after this long test I take pleasure in again endorsing this remedy to the public for I do not believe they have an equal. Doan's Kidney Pills made a complete cure in my case as I have not had an attack since."

for reinforcements and the peasants, in ignorance of this step, remained in the town until the soldiers arrived. There then ensued a serious fight up and down the burned streets. The soldiers came out victorious. Twenty rioters were killed and many were wounded. The commander of the troops, Maj. Calori, sustained serious injuries.

The entire Roumanian district was up in arms. Here the authorities were powerless and the peasants pillaged, burned and devastated everywhere. All the buildings in the villages of Hancesti, Heresti, Hotesti, and Ninetusen were demolished, and the villages are now more than heaps of ruins.

It is estimated that not less than 8,000 fugitives have crossed the frontier into the Austrian province of Bukowina, where they are being cared for as well as possible.

Attack a Whole Regiment.

The most serious fight of today occurred near Platra, a town about sixty miles southwest of Jassy. Several thousand peasants marched against this town, where an entire regiment of infantry was stationed. The soldiers charged the peasants with fixed bayonets. The peasants replied to this onslaught with rifle and revolver fire, and then the troops began shooting back. The fighting lasted over an hour before the rioters retreated. Fifty-two of them were killed, 67 wounded, and 250 made prisoners. Of the troops 8 men were killed and 27 wounded.

The estimate of 10,000 Jews without homes is considered here to be conservative. Most of these fugitives saved absolutely nothing, escaping with their lives. Four thousand Jews fled to Bucharest, where the authorities are now making every effort to assist them, but practically all are obliged to sleep in the open air.

The entire garrison at Bucharest is being held in readiness for service in the disturbed district. Reinforcements to the number of 1,800 men have been brought into the city by special trains. Eight thousand reservists have been called to the colors.

Stories of Outrages.

The fugitives who have escaped into Austria tell dreadful stories of the outrages to which they have been subjected, but tonight they are so worn out with their flight or so under the spell of the fear that drove them from Roumania, that no one can give a detailed account of his or her experiences.

Fugitives from Botosahnik, who were the first to reach the frontier, declared tonight that a body of 2,000 peasants succeeded in forcing their way into town after midnight. The people of Botosahnik had been informed of their coming, and most of the women and children had been started toward the frontier. The men remained behind for the purpose of offering resistance and defending the property. The reports are to the effect that the bloodthirsty rioters killed many persons in Botosahnik, but it has been impossible to get reliable figures.

It now appears that the peasants had carefully planned for this uprising. They had perfected an organization and determined upon the day to begin. They were subdivided into bands of 1,500 men each, each band had an appointed leader, and the leaders had been informed as to exactly where they could commit outrages without fear of serious resistance.

In Peril of Famine.

In the town of Botosahnik the scarcity of meat and bread is beginning to entail suffering. A number of butcher and baker shops were destroyed, while the remainder have closed up. Nobody dares to sell meat. While the situation in this district is slightly better today, the conditions in the district of Dorogol, about twenty miles to the northwest of Botosahnik, have changed for the worse. The tenants of all the farms near Herza and Molitka have fled.

The town of Dorogol was attacked yesterday by a body of 4,000 peasants. The local clergyman made vain efforts to calm the excited masses. The peasants would not listen to them and swept them out of their path. A regiment of cavalry was then called into action and attacked the peasants vigorously. The mob finally were driven back, but not before many men had been killed or wounded. It is still impossible to ascertain the exact number.

Her Probable Reason.

"Day before yesterday, right out in front of the hotel, here," said the landlord of the tavern at Polkville, Ark., "a nice-looking grass-widow met a feller that had been going with her some, and fired three shots at him, one of which tore off considerable of his south ear as he was rapidly going east. I was settin' on the porch at the time, and saw it all, and—"

"Great Scott!" ejaculated the washing machine agent, pricking up his ears eagerly, "unless it is a matter that you don't care to discuss, I wish you would tell me what, in your opinion, was the lady's reason for such an act?"

"Well, I reckon," was the ingenuous reply, "that she was mad at him. Of course, she mightn't have been—you can't tell much about women, you know—but that's the way it looked to me."

Has 4138 feet frontage on Buckner Lane Road, said road just graveled in front of this land. Has 757 feet front on Hinkleville Gravel Road, and plat gives 40 feet cross roads through the tract, so that each and every lot fronts either on these gravel roads or these newly opened roads. Most of the lots front at each end on these roads. No nicer land in McCracken county. The 20 acres front on Hinkleville road has nice grove of forest trees on it and lays so as to make ideal residence sites.

Price on the Hinkleville road front is $100.00 per acre, of which $10 acre cash and balance in monthly or quarterly payments running five years. All other lots $65 acre on same terms. While these prices are uniform, there is difference in desirability of lots and first customers get choice. Come and see plat and list men who have taken dozen lots before I could get the parcels staked off. For home or investment lots you lose opportunity if you fail to take this. NO EARLY ELECTION TO SENATE

Candidates at Madison fail to reach an agreement on date.

Madison, Wis., March 25.—Leaders in the senatorial fight have been holding conferences all day in an attempt to agree on a date for beginning balloting, but have been unsuccessful. The general sentiment now seems to favor postponing the election until after Spooner's resignation goes into effect on May 1. There is no apparent change in the strength of the different candidates. A medical examination as a prerequisite to marriage will be necessary in Wisconsin, if a bill introduced in the assembly today becomes a law. The bill prohibits the marriage of any person who is insane, idiotic, feeble-minded or epileptic; requires a physician's certificate that there is no physical impediment to marriage; provides that county judges instead of county clerks shall issue licenses, and prohibits any suspension of the five-day period between the issuance of the license and the marriage ceremony.

SINCLAIR DEFENDS COLONY'S MORALS

Says Imputation Cast By Jury is Unfair.

Head of Financial Department and Some of Books are Now in Cuba.

WHY THE BILLS ARE UNPAID

New York, March 25.—Upton Sinclair, father of the burnt out Helicon hall colonists, resents the imputation made by the coroner's jury at Englewood Thursday night to the effect that the moral ideas of the colonists are advanced over those of the exclusive residents of the suburban city. He said tonight, in defense of his colony and himself, that the jury called to investigate the death at the Helicon hall fire of Lester Briggs had made unwarranted deductions from the answers he had given them, and had put to him questions assuming a condition of morals which did not exist among the colonists.

Mr. Sinclair made his statement from his bed. He was found in the Hotel Cumberland, under the care of a trained nurse, and receiving the attention of Dr. William Fisher Grier. Mr. Sinclair's foot, which had been out and burned by hot cinders the night of the fire had become inflamed so the physician said, and these precautionary measures had been taken against blood poisoning. The head colonist had begun to use his foot too soon, and now he must remain in bed for several days.

Resents Line of Inquiry.

"I want to state this as emphatically as I know how, that the Helicon hall colony was not a free love community," said Mr. Sinclair when the questioning of the coroner's jury was recalled to him. "And you may add that I as well as the other members of the colony, resent the imputation cast upon us by the questions put to some of us as witnesses last night at the inquest in Englewood. The line of questioning seemed to give the broad inference that our morals were not what they should have been and that we were living under a free-love regime.

"The members of the jury asked me about the keys to the house and I told them we had no keys, simply meaning to give information to show that any one might have entered our place at any hour of the night. The jury took my statement to mean the whole house was open and there was free communication between the rooms of the colonists. I don't know anything about this. I don't suppose the people living in Helicon hall turned the locks on themselves any more than they would do if they had been living in the house of a friend.

Says Rooms Were Private.

"The jury also seemed to find significance in the arrangement we had made for the accommodation of the workers on the third floor. We were greatly crowded for room. We made little bedrooms in the big studio on the top floor by erecting partitions about ten feet high, and we had long curtains screening the rooms. There

A QUESTION

When Eating an Orange Why Do You Throw the Skin Away?

You immediately answer, because the skin is indigestible, unpalatable, useless.

This delicious and nutritious fruit has a parallel in cod liver oil. Over 50 medicinal alkaloids or curative elements are to be found in the cod's liver and for centuries people have been swallowing oil, the greasy, indigestible, nauseating oil, either in its raw form or in an emulsion, to get the benefit of these medicinal elements.

Now it has been proven by two celebrated French chemists that the oil which envelopes the curative properties found in the cod's liver is just as useless as the skin of an orange, and have discovered a way to separate all of these medicinal elements from the oil, retaining all that is good and eliminating the bad, and thus make Vinol.

This will explain what a valuable medicine Vinol is, and why it is superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, and why it has been so successful in curing stomach troubles, giving strength and renewed vitality to the weak, run-down and aged and curing chronic coughs, colds, and building up the convalescent, and it is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we unhesitatingly offer to return money in every case where it fails. W. B. McPherson, Druggist.

Note—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Paducah, it is now for sale in the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

was as much privacy here as in any Pullman car, and certainly none of us ever gave a thought to the possible wrong interpretation that might be given the method of our accommodation."

Mr. Sinclair added that from the time the Helicon hall colonists moved in up to the day of the fire there had been much curiosity among the Englewood folk about the manner of their living. He had heard stories circulated about town to the effect that the colonists did not invite their friends among the townspeople because they had something they wanted to conceal.

"Last night when we were called upon to face the coroner's jury we all found a distinct air of hostility manifested toward us by the members of that body. Upon me in particular they seemed to visit their displeasure and I am afraid they thought they had made a fool of me. Maybe they did. I felt that they did.

Why Bills Are Unpaid.

"They blamed us for running Helicon hall as a hotel without obeying the hotel laws for protection against fire. Why, that building housed a school many years before we took it, and when we entered we found no fire protection at all. We immediately bought three fire extinguishers and Mrs. Hahn was in New York buying fire escapes when the building burned."

An apologist for the colonists said the inimical spirit of the jury might be accounted for by the fact that several of its members were tradesmen who held bills against the colony. The financial affairs of the association had been badly muddled just about a month before the fire, said Mr. Sinclair, through the illness of Supt. Randall. He was forced to go to Havana to recuperate and he took some of the account books with him. The colonists continued to pay their board and lodging, but no settlement of outstanding bills could be made while Mr. Randall was away with the books of the financial department which were in his possession. So it was that, though there was something like $1,500 in a bank to the credit of the colony, no payments could be made to the clamoring butcher and baker. When the superintendent returned or gave up his place and another was appointed all bills listed would be made ready for payment.

Will Abandon Englewood.

"We will not return to Englewood," was Mr. Sinclair's final dictum in laying away the ghost of the Helicon hall colony that was. "We would find too many psychological obstacles to overcome before we could be happy. The colonists are keeping in touch, however, and we will get settled down somewhere else before long."

English Pronunciation.

There is a village in North Devon which the signposts call Wolfardsworthy, but which we have heard pronounced "Wool'arthy." Very likely, however, if you went there and pronounced it so you would be reproved for the contraction.

This was what happened to us at Cirencester. Passing through that town we were solemnly corrected for calling it "Oicester." On the other hand, when wandering in Norfolk and drawing nigh to a place which was marked on the map "Happisburg," we found ourselves quite unintelligible because we did not pronounce it "Hazebro."

Even in English the difference between sight and sound is confined to a small minority of words, though some people seem to be of the same opinion as a young Hanoverian lady of our acquaintance who naively remarked: "You English do pronounce so strangely. There is your great author; you spell him D-i-c-k-e-n-s, and you pronounce him 'Boz.'" Loudon Spectator.

ABE HEWITT'S BABY LUNCH

If there is any limit to the eccentricities of hospitality it must surely, one would think, have been reached in some of the "freak" banquets recently given across the Atlantic.

Some time ago Mrs. Abram Hewitt, wife of an ex-mayor of New York, gave a higher novel party to a number of her ultra-fashionable friends, says The Bits. Each guest appeared in baby clothes—the ladies in short skirts, with their hair in pig tails, and the men beardless and wearing patched breeches. All carried dolls, staves and sponges, and recited their tessons to Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Condit, who figured as schoolmaster and schoolmistress respectively. While the proceedings were further enlivened by a chorus of professional singers dressed as monks and nuns.

Celebrates Divorce Anniversary.

Mr. Romaine Pierson, a well known American clubman, celebrated the tenth anniversary of his divorce by a dinner to twenty-four of his friends at the Beach Hotel, Chicago. The invitations, to the feast were ornamented with designs representing broken hearts; the principal toast was, "Here's to my mother-in-law, Heaven may bless her, but I don't insist," and the place of honor was occupied by a gentleman whose furniture had been seized by his former wife a few days earlier.

An eccentric feast was given recently by Mr. Frank G. Balsito, of Brooklyn, to the doctors and nurses who had attended him during and after a serious operation. The wines were drunk out of medicine bottles, the tables were decorated with antiseptic fluid, and the loes were served in the form of human skulls.

Beasts and Birds Were There.

For originality, however, it would be difficult to beat the supper party given a few weeks ago by Mrs. Fiske Griffin at her home in a fashionable suburb of Chicago. Ten of the leading members of Chicago society escorted a bird or animal to the supper table, the guests including a guinea pig, a white pig, a rooster, a rabbit, a dove, a parrot, a lizard, a terrier, a cat and a squirrel the pig having the honor of being escorted by the hostess herself. Covers were laid for 20, and each four-footed or feathered guest was served with its own pet delicacies—the rabbit with lettuce, the lizard with flies, the cat with a live mouse and so on.

Ponies at Banquet.

At a "pony banquet" given by Mr. Harvey S. Ladew, at Glen Cove, Long Island, the guests of honor were two ponies which had won the principal prizes at the Piping Rock horse show. The four-footed guests were installed in two horse boxes, draped in silks and embowered in roses; and between them sat the host at the head of the horseshoe table at which forty more human guests were seated. Dinner was served to the ladies, gentlemen and ponies together, the latter feasting on oats, carrots and other delicacies, served in silver buckets, and drinking water from gold-hooped wooden pails.

At another banquet in honor of a prize Pomeranian, the canine guests were seated on high chairs and fed by butlers with veal cutlets, sausages, chocolates and ice cream, with a liberal slice each of a birthday cake which might have graced a royal table.—Louisville Times.

Boers Control Transvaal.

Pretoria, March 25.—The first Transvaal parliament under the new constitution met here today, an odd mixture of English and Boers. The Boers have a majority, and most of the members were veterans of the recent war with the English. The proceedings were conducted alternately in English and Dutch, a speaker frequently beginning his remarks in one language and finishing in the other.

Benjamin F. Hamilton of Saco, Me., claims to be the first storekeeper in New England to employ women clerks. He recently passed his eighty-eighth birthday.

Charles Law Watts, a sixteen-year-old boy of Kent, England, weighs 372 pounds and is still eating.

Precaution said, "Good friend, this counsel keep: Strip not until you're laid to sleep."—From the Dutch.

COLLEGE MEN IN INDUSTRY.

Following the recently-published reports that agents of the great industrial, railroad, mining and public-service corporations have agents regularly commissioned to discover and keep close track of the brightest or most promising undergraduates in our American colleges and technical schools with a view to securing their active services as soon as available or marketable, comes the announcement that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is making special efforts to get "apprentices"—so called, although not apprenticed in the one-time significance of the term—from among young men with college training. It has been practically forced to this policy through existing and prospective conditions.

In the matter alone of its improvements and extensions in and about New York City the Pennsylvania management sees the increasing need of operating men and engineers of experience and judgment. New places of responsibility are constantly being created that are especially suited to men graduated from technical schools. Similar conditions exist almost everywhere in the United States from Canada to Mexico and from one ocean to the other. The construction of the Panama Canal does not lessen the demand for this sort of talent either. The next decade and a half promises realization in engineering construction undreamed of before the dawn of the twentieth century. We may speculate hopefully or otherwise on the "college man in industry"—as a captain of industry—is going to be one of the most impressive features of American life in the next quarter century.

To take an illustration on the purely practical or material side of the case, a Yale man now in middle life, an attorney of reputation and extensive practice and a lecturer on special topics before law-school classes, remarked the other day: "I have stopped giving advice to young men about a career in the law, medicine, banking, the Christian ministry, general business or as educators. A boy of mine considerably under thirty, to whom I gave a technical-school education, much against my own judgment, is today in receipt of an annual income six times as large as my own and much greater than I can ever hope to earn, and his prospects so bright that they make me feel like a mummy. He is not exceptionally talented, exceptionally enterprising or exceptionally fortunate. He simply came onto the market with his engineering equipment at a time when its profitable disposition was easy—and every day, every minute, expands his opportunities. I have ceased theorizing. The new industrial conditions refute me at every point."—N. Y. Commercial.

OCEAN MAIL DEFEAT.

The defeat of the "ocean-mail" bill—so named by some of its sponsors in deference to the prejudice against ship subsidies existing in certain quarters—was due according to the Marine Journal of this city, to a "misrepresentative, unpatriotic, destructive minority in the United States senate"; and it declares that a just criticism of that minority "talking the majority by the throat at the close of the recent session" and thereby defeating the bill "would not be fit to print."

While these declarations apply in general to the solid Democratic minority in the senate, in the context of the article Senator Carmack of Tennessee and other southern senators are made the objects of especial attack for the chief reason, presumably, that they did most of the work in the plan of "talking the bill to death" under that ancient and much-abused privilege known as the "courtesy of the senate." These men certainly have a scant appreciation of the needs of their country, and show themselves unwilling to accord one particular industry the governmental consideration extended to all others within the territory of the United States. At the same time, however, they should be credited with due sincerity in their convictions and with an honesty of purpose in the tactics employed to prevent what they regarded as an "ill-advised national policy."

But what of the majority in the senate—that compact body of protectionist Republicans, professing an earnest desire for upbuilding the American merchant marine and a firm belief in the duty of congress to aid in the work, and possessing the numerical strength to outvote their opponents and enforce their own will at any time except when the close approach of final adjournment makes minutes and even seconds precious and thus places an effective club in the hands of the minority? These men passed the Gallinger shipping bill at the last session, to be sure, and for that they are to be given due credit. But up to the latest days of the short session—for fully three months—they apparently did nothing to bring about an understanding between their own and the house majority so that action on the "ocean mail" bill by both chambers could have been had long before March 4 and thus neither majority have been placed at the mercy of the minority.

It is the veriest folly for the Republican ship subsidists in the Fifty-ninth congress to stand up now and plead anything in excuse or in explanation of their failure to enact merchant-marine legislation. They had a strong working majority in both branches. Had they only "gotten together" long ago, they could have successfully defied the free-ships minority and have had a genuine subsidy law in force and operation today. The Republican house might easily have passed the Gallinger bill; the Republican senate might have passed the Littaner bill; or the two majorities might have framed and passed a compromise measure.

The humiliating fact is that the American merchant marine has for years been stabbed in the house of its friends. We may attack us will the opposing minority for its narrow prejudice and lack of patriotism; but a protectionist-subsidist majority that is too weak or too indifferent to enforce its own will deserves criticism and censure in double measure.—N. CHAPTER XXXI.
A FEW minutes before the curtain fell on the second act of "Other Men's Shoes" Loder rose from his seat and made his apologies to Lillian.

At any other moment he might have pondered over her manner of accepting them—the easy indifference with which she let him go. But vastly keener issues were claiming his attention, issues whose results were wide and black.

He left the theater and, refusing the overtures of cabmen, left himself to walk to Chilcote's house. His face was hard and emotionless as he hurried forward, but the chaos in his mind found expression in the unevenness of his pace. To a strong man the confronting of difficulties is never alarming and is often fraught with inspiration, but this applies essentially to the difficulties evolved through the weakness, the folly or the force of another; when they arise from within the unit for is of another character. It is in presence of his own soul, and in that presence alone, that a man may truly measure himself.

As Loder walked onward, treading the whole familiar length of traffic-filled street, he realized for the first time that he was standing before that solemn tribunal—that the hour had come when he must answer to himself for himself. The longer and deeper an oblivion the more painful the awakening. For months the song of self had been about his ears, denuding all other sounds; now abruptly that song had ceased, not considerably, not lingeringly, but with a suddenness that made the succeeding silence very terrible.

He walked onward, keeping his direction unswerving. He was passing through the fire as surely as though actual flames rose about his feet, and whatever the result, whatever the fiber of the man who emerged from the ordeal, the John Loder who had been his way through the past weeks would exist no more. The triumphant egotist, the strong man who by his own strength had kept his eyes upon one point, refusing to see in other directions, had ceased to be.

Keen though it was, his realization of this crisis in his life had come with characteristic slowness. When Lillian Astrup had given her dictum, when the music of the orchestra had ceased and the curtain risen on the second act of the play, nothing but a sense of stupefaction had filled his mind. In that moment the great song was silenced, not by any pertinent episode, not by any incident that could have lent dignity to its end, but, with the full measure of life's irony, by a trivial social commonplace. In the first sensation of blank loss his faculties had been numbed. In the quarter of an hour that followed the rise of the curtain he had sat staring at the stage, seeing nothing, hearing nothing, filled with the enormity of the void that suddenly surrounded him. Then from habit, from constitutional tendency, he had begun slowly and perseveringly to draw first one thread and then another from the tangle of his thoughts, to force with doubt and difficulty the chain that was to draw him toward the future.

It was upon this same incomplete and yet tortuous chain that his mind worked as he traversed the familiar streets and at last gained the house he had so easily learned to call home.

As he inserted the key and felt it move smoothly in the lock a momentary revolt against his own judgment, his own conviction, swung him sharply toward reaction. But it is only the blind who can walk without a tremor on the edge of an abyss, and there was no longer a handrail across his eyes. The reaction faded up like a strip of lighted paper; then, like a strip of lighted paper, it dropped back to ashes. He pushed the door open and slowly crossed the hall.

The mounting of a staircase is often the index to a man's state of mind. As Loder ascended the stairs of Chilcote's house his shoulders lacked their stiffness, his head was no longer erect. He moved as though his feet were weighted. He had come to be the man of achievement whose smallest opinion commands consideration. In the privacy of solitude he was the more human titan to which he had once compared himself—the titan that, dreaming it, has found a harbor, wakes to find itself the prey of the incoming tide.

He paused at the head of the stairs to rally his resolutions. Then, still walking heavily, he passed down the corridor to Eve's room. It was suggestive of his character that, having made his decision, he did not dally over its performance. Without waiting to knock, he turned the handle and walked into the room.

It looked precisely as it always looked, but to Loder the rich, subdued coloring of books and flowers—the whole air of culture and repose that the place conveyed—seemed to hold a deeper meaning than before, and it was on the instant that his eyes, crossing the luminous objects, rested on their owner that the true force of his position, the enormity of the task before him, made itself plain. Realization came to him with vivid, overwhelming force, and it must be accounted to his credit in the summing of his qualities that then, in that moment of trial, the thought of retreat—the thought of yielding, did not present itself.

Eve was standing by the mantelpiece. She wore a beautiful gown, a long string of diamonds was twisted about her neck, and her soft, black hair was coiled high after a foreign fashion and held in place by a large diamond comb. As he entered she turned hastily, almost nervously, and looked at him with the rapid, searching glance he had learned to expect from her. Then almost directly her expression changed to one of quick concern. "With a faint exclamation of alarm she stepped forward.

"What has happened?" she said. "You look like a ghost."

Loder made no answer. Moving into the room, he paused by the oak table that stood between the fireplace and the door.

They made an unconscious tableau as they stood there—he with his hand, set face, she with her heightened color, her luxuriantly bright eyes. They stood completely silent for a space—a space that for Loder held no suggestion of time. Then, finding the tension unbearable, Eve spoke again.

"Has anything happened?" she asked. "Is anything wrong?"

Had he been less engrossed the intensity of her concern might have struck him, but in a mind so harassed as his there was only room for one consideration—the consideration of himself. The sense of her question reached him, but its significance left him untouched.

"Is anything wrong?" she reiterated for the second time.

By an effort he raised his eyes. No man, he thought, since the beginning of the world was ever set a task so cruel as his. Painfully and slowly his lips parted.

"Everything in the world is wrong," he said in a slow, hard voice.

Eve said nothing, but her color suddenly deepened.

Again Loder was unobservant, but with the dogged resolution that marked him he forced himself to his task.

"You despise me," he said at last. "Tell me whose whole life was one elaborate lie." The words were slightly exaggerated, but their utterance, their painfully tongue sincerity, precluded all suggestion of effect. Resolutely holding her gaze, he repeated his question.

"Tell me! Answer me! I want to know."

Eve's attitude was difficult to read. She stood twisting the string of diamonds between her fingers.

"Tell me," he said again. She continued to look at him for a moment; then, as if some fresh impulse moved her, she turned away from him toward the door.

"I cannot," she said. "We—I I could not set myself to judge—any one."

Loder held himself rigidly in hand. "Eve," he said quietly, "I was at the Arcadian tonight. The play was 'Other Men's Shoes.' I suppose you've read the book 'Other Men's Shoes'?"

She was leaning on the mantelpiece, and her face was lividly to him. "Yes, I have read it," she said without looking round.

"It is the story of an extraordinary likeness between two men. Do you believe such a thing could exist? He spoke with difficulty. His brain and tongue both felt numb.

Eve let the diamond chain slip from her fingers. "Yes," she said nervously. "Yes, I do believe it. Such things have been."

Loder caught at the words. "You're quite right," he said quickly. "You're quite right. The thing is possible. I've proved it. I know a man so like me that you, even you, could not tell us apart."

Eve was silent, still averting her face.

In dire difficulty he labored on. "Eve," he began once more, "such a likeness is a serious thing a terrible danger, a terrible temptation. Those who have no experience of it cannot possibly gauge its pitfalls." Again he paused, but again the silent figure by the fireplace gave him no help.

CHANNEL TUNNEL PLAN KILLED

English Government Turns Down Project for a Bore to France.

London, March 25.—The revived project of tunneling the English Channel received its death blow, at least for a long time to come, by the announcement of the government's well considered decision against the enterprise in parliament today. Premier Campbell-Bannerman in the house of commons and the Earl of Crewe, lord president of the council, in the house of lords, made identical announcements to this effect, which were approved by the opposition in both houses. It is understood that the bill will now be withdrawn.

The premier, in announcing his decision, said: "Even if the military dangers could be guarded against completely, there would be a feeling of insecurity, leading to constant demands for increased naval and military expenditure and creating a feeling of alarm injurious to the country's commercial and political interests."

The annual army bill was passed by the commons today, after a session which began at 2 p. m. yesterday, lasting nearly 28 hours. The long session was caused by the obstructive tactics of the opposition. The premier announced the session would not adjourn until the bill was passed, and at last the opposition permitted the measure to go through.

Cures asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, hoarseness, and phthisis, stops hemorrhages of the lungs and builds them up. Guaranteed at all druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

FATAL FIRE.

Cincinnati, March 25.—Fire, which started from an explosion in the plant of the Ohio Valley Printing company in the rear of the St. Nicholas hotel, this morning, caused great excitement among the guests. The fire was confined to the building in which it started. It was gutted. George Flinn, an engineer, was burned and will die. Another man was struck by a falling beam and his skull fractured.

FRANK OF A KING'S DAUGHTER.

Furnished Reception for Guests at Ambassador Tower's Masked Ball.

Merlin has been pleasantly excited of late over a ball given at the United States Embassy by Ambassador and Mrs. Charlemagne Tower. It was a masked ball, a rare event in court and diplomatic circles, but on that account enjoyed all the more by the dancing set, says the New York Sun.

The Crown Prince of Germany and his brothers were among the guests. They and a number of their associates appeared in the uniform of Prussian officers of the period of Frederick the Great.

The Crown Prince's resemblance in this dress to the portrait of his great relative was the subject of general comment. The Crown Prince and a number of other young women and girls wore the court costume of the same period. The Princess with her hair powdered and in her tight bodice, hoops and paniers was remarkably graceful and pretty.

A feature of the affair was the costliness of the dresses and the great display of valuable jewelry. It indicated a complete revolution in Berlin social standards, the newspapers agree. Even ten years ago no such gorgeous and lavish display would have been possible.

One of the most admired ornaments was a magnificent collar of emeralds. It aroused all the more comment because it was not a woman who wore it. It was the finishing touch to the costume of Prince Guido von Hohenkronenmark, who appeared in the character of a Netherlands councillor.

His costume was copied from a picture by Franz Hals. The Prince is one of the richest of German magnates, and his display of jewelry was equalled only by the diamonds worn by Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was also present.

The sensation of the ball was furnished by a comic cabman. He was a typical second-class cab driver. He took his whip with him into the ballroom.

His rig was taken from life; his nose was bulbous and suspiciously red. His manners were clumsy and uncouth as he danced with the women and joked with the men. Everyone's curiosity was excited and all the names of possible young society men were canvassed but none seemed to fit the jolly cabman.

When unmasking time came the cabman shed his entire rig on the ballroom floor and emerged from it a rotund, smiling, pretty peasant woman of the well-to-do farming class, so far as her costume indicated. But the show of delight which went up all over the ballroom, which she acknowledged with a series of smiling courtesies, showed that the fair masquerade had been recognized as the Princess Pauline zu Wied, the only daughter of the King of Wurtemberg.

ALICE ROOSEVELT'S WEDDING
Was something to be recorded in the annals of history. Alice has been acknowledged the greatest of liver restorers. A positive cure for Bilious Headaches, Constipation, Chills and Fever and all liver complaints. L. C. Smith, Little Rock, Ark., writes: "There is the greatest liver medicine known. Have used it for years. It does the work."

TWO KILLED.

Portsmouth, O., March 25.—Freeman Hulton was killed and Engineer Howser, fatally hurt in a rear end collision of two Norfolk and Western freight trains near here today. The men were buried under their engine, which was overturned.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are getting and all the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better remedy is used both for rectifying and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz—pure refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heartburn, loud breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy. If it is used perseveringly in Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hanging-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages, no medicine will do that, but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead on to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be used.

Discontent.

Once upon a time there lived a City Citizen who grumbled hard and had nothing to show for his pains except a few fancy feathers on his wife's hat. "Oh for a home in the country," he sighed. "This tear and rattle and incessant toll don't pay. I would give all I possess for a little yellow house with grass around it, a cow, some chickens, and a few real flowers. It would be heaven indeed to walk across one's own meadow of an evening and watch the sun sink beneath the western hills." And he longed and longed and longed.

Not far from the metropolis there dwelt a Rural Resident. The Rural Resident existed in a little yellow house with green around it; furthermore he enjoyed the possession of a cow, some chickens, and any amount of flowers. He labored from sunrise to moonrise, and read magazines in the evening. "Far mine," he wailed, "the clang and glitter of Broadway. Wouldn't it be just fine to sit in one's own apartment, with an electric elevator, a private telephone, and a marble quarry in the front hall. Theaters two miles away. One hundred human beings under the same roof! That's life."

They advertised.

The City Citizen bought the little yellow house and gave in exchange the trappings of his apartment. He went to live with the cow. And the Rural Resident journeyed to New York.

Inside of six weeks each offered the other their letters crossing in the mail—about nineteen inducements to swap back again. The night the City Citizen returned to the city he rushed for a chophouse and ordered four rabbits. The same evening they found the Rural Resident with his arms encircling the cow's neck. For very joy he refused to let go.

And they lived happier ever after.
